Telling It Like It Is – Law School and Life

Come hear insights from upper-level students about balancing law school and life. This panel is designed for you to share with a guest – family member, spouse, friend – someone who will be travelling this road with you. You'll hear from evening and day students about time management, classic pitfalls, relationships and health and you'll have a chance to ask questions.

8:00-9pm

Welcome Reception with your new classmates, a guest and faculty

After the panel, come celebrate the beginning of your law school journey with your classmates while mingling with faculty and staff. Give your guest a tour of your new "home."
